

How a merged airline will serve hundreds more strips

The most important result of the proposed merger of Air Niugini and Airlines PNG is that within one year of its approval, scheduled services will increase from 32 airports now to 328 airports.

This expansion will be achieved in three stages, as listed below. The specific airstrips and timing may be slightly different, but the targets are highly achievable.

Expansion of domestic air services is the only way most people in rural areas can travel to the rest of the country.

Neither Air Niugini nor Airlines PNG would be able to achieve this expansion on their own.

But a merged airline will be able to reopen all these strips and fly to them regularly.

If your local airstrip is on this post-merger list, then you and your family will benefit from the merger.
